Dear Friends,

Last month, on March 25, 2006, I resigned my position as Director of the Service Learning Center, effective May 15, 2006. The date is the Monday after graduation, and it also marks the twentieth anniversary of my own graduation from St. Mary's.

Although working with my colleagues in the Service Learning Center has been the most rewarding work of my professional career, I have resigned in order to pursue further graduate study in law. Many of you know that this summer I will be finishing my LL.M. at the Center for Law and Religion within the law school at the University of Wales, and I have decided to stay on for doctoral studies in international human rights law.

Our first step is selling the house, and relocating to my family's farm in Ft. Worth, so our forwarding address is: Mary Lynne and Andrew Hill, 5100 Overlook Drive, Ft. Worth, Texas 76108, (817) 237-8300.

Mary Lynne has received a leave of absence from the University, and although she too will miss the students and our colleagues, she does look forward to being able to spend more time with Andrew James and doing some writing. As you can imagine, I greatly appreciate her support of my studies, as this move will have a significant impact on our personal and professional lives. Thanks Mary Lynne!

I have greatly enjoyed working with you these past years, and I will keep you abreast of my graduate studies in the future. Please keep us in your prayers, and look for those postcards!

Sincerely, Andy Hill, Easter 2006

Thanks! It has been fun & I will miss you!
