

The Marianists

BROTHER JAMES LEAHY

75 years of profession

Over the years of my teaching career, I have endeavored to imitate a fellow Marianist: Brother Leonard Mann, who was my ideal when I was his student in the postulate.

I lived for the classroom, and, thank God, managed to enjoy it daily for 66 years. I credit anything I was able to accomplish during these years to the older SM'ers with whom I lived during my initial years as an educator.

I learned quite early in life that I would not be able to do everything for everybody, but would be able to do something for somebody.
