

Director of Mission and Inclusion

Chaminade Julianne Catholic High School seeks an outstanding leader and educator to serve as the school's director of mission and inclusion. This new position was established by the Board of Trustees as part of the school's most recent strategic financial plan and represents an opportunity to more fully advance the Catholic, Marianist, and Notre Dame mission of the school.

Serving as a member of the school leadership team and reporting to the president and CEO, the director is responsible to lead and coordinate efforts of school leadership, Trustees, teachers, staff members, and students to support, monitor, and strengthen the implementation of the charisms of the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur and the Marianists throughout the school community, with particular focus on planning and implementing equity and inclusion initiatives consistent with the Gospel call to discipleship. Leading this commitment to mission, the director will collaborate with members of the school community to ensure that all students feel welcomed, included, and able to access all that CJ has to offer, while inspiring all members of the school community to learn about and work to honor the dignity and sacredness of each person, leading to greater justice and peace.

The director of mission and inclusion will have a Masters' degree in theology, philosophy, human resources, sociology, psychology, or a related field and 4-7 years experience in education, preferably in a Catholic high school or university; and be able to demonstrate the ability to bring people together and, at times, lead difficult conversations. The successful candidate will be able to detail his or her training as a diversity, equity, and inclusion practitioner or successful demonstration of leading or participating in successful DEI efforts.

To receive a detailed position description, you may contact Mrs. Katie Espino, assistant to the president, at kespino@cjeagles.org.
